

STUDENTS' TESTIMONIES

Now that the three weeks of the Master in International Hotel Management have passed and we all have been assigned our internships, I can definitely say that I am really glad of having chosen this Master.

The professors are very competent and professional. Every subject was interesting and explained in details. Having a linguistic background, I learnt many new things that I had never heard of before coming to Budapest. One of the things that I enjoyed the most was that the classes were very interactive and we all had the chance to express ourselves. Besides the lectures, the professors always told us some anecdotes about the hospitality industry, which we really appreciated. We also had the chance to visit three out of the four partner hotels and were welcomed in each and every one of them.

I have been assigned an internship at the Front Office department of Eurostars Hotel. I am really looking forward to starting the practical part next Tuesday.

Last but not least, our coordinator has always been by our sides. He helped us by giving suggestions before the interviews, kept in touch with the hotels and supported us in every stage of the process, even during days off.

I would definitely recommend this Master to other people and I hope more editions will come.

The Master was well-organized and dynamic. What I have appreciated the most was the teamwork, very interesting and stimulating. Thanks to the lectures, now I have a general knowledge of all the hospitality departments. Each professor was helpful and competent.

Our Master's coordinator was always understanding and well-disposed to listen to students and solve every kind of issue. I have started my internship on 5th December at Eurostars Budapest Center ****, working in the Sales Department, and I am looking forward to make this experience!

Overall I was satisfied with the course, the interactive lectures were really fun and the workshops were useful! The highlight for me is getting my placement at the Ritz-Carlton, which was my first choice.

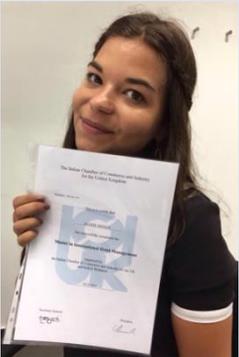

The Master in International Hotel Management has been an excellent opportunity for me, especially for my future career. We had three incredible weeks of lectures and learning new things about this particular industry. The teachers have been extremely professional: everyone was very well prepared, happy to help and share with us his/her experience and almost all of them had a hospitality background. Thanks to this Master I got the chance to find a paid internship in the Food & Beverage department of a four stars hotel in Budapest. If you are interested in the Hospitality Industry, then this Master meets your needs and expectations, and I would recommend it to anyone who is looking for a professional course in the hospitality field.

I have just attended the Master in International Hotel Management organized by the Italian Chamber of Commerce in UK and based in Budapest.

The lectures have been interesting and useful for deeply discovering the Hotellerie industry. The academic staff was well prepared and motivating. My favourite lessons were Human Resources Management and Food & Beverage.

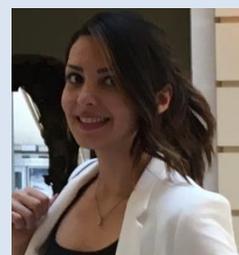

Moreover, the advantage of this Master is the opportunity of connection with 4/5 stars hotel and have internships of 3/6 months period.

I have absolutely no regrets for joining this wonderful Master. The courses are interesting and professors very professional. During the three weeks, I have learned a lot, professionally and personally, thanks to the different nationalities of the participants. Also, the Master's coordinator is available to help us in our professional project. We have the possibility to do different interviews in several hotels and also to have the chance to choose among more internship offers. I can honestly say that this Master is a good opportunity to start a new career in the hospitality industry. It was a great experience and I can't wait to join The Ritz-Carlton Hotel team!

I'm very happy that I have chosen this Program. First of all because I met fantastic people from different cultures with diverse experiences. Furthermore, beside our well prepared and helpful professors, we learned a lot from each other as well. The Master gave me the possibility to discover which areas of the hotel industry are the most suitable to my personality and I have earned many important information about how to become more successful and effective in this field. It gave us a chance to get in touch with many prestigious hotels, but of course it also depends on us and on the effort we add to our job. I would say it's a great opportunity for everyone who feels passionate about hotel management and has ambition to excel. I am glad to have had the chance to participate in this Master and I'm looking forward to start my internship at The Ritz-Carlton Hotel with some of my amazing colleagues in the heart of Budapest.

The Master was so helpful to improve my management skills especially in HR and F&B fields. All the lectures and environments were very professional. Thanks to the Italian Chamber of Commerce I had the opportunity to visit many luxury hotels and starting my internship at Eurostars Hotel Budapest.

A Master in Hospitality made by people with a deep knowledge of this business field, the learning environment is stimulating and very friendly and the course has been held in a place with an astonishing venue. Budapest is a fast growing and cosmopolitan European capital, which is ideal for hospitality luxury business.

Following the Master, I got the right hints to step up in this business which I really enjoy. Now I am thrilled to start my internship at Zenit Hotel Budapest, attending the second term of this wonderful Master experience.

Overall, although I have been working in a 5-star hotel right now, enrolling in this Master was a nice experience. I could see different points of view, which were mostly the managerial ones from different hotel areas. Lectures were very professional and structured, with valuable details on how to act in different hotel departments and what are the main tools that hotel employees should use in given occasions.

The Master was held in a great location, with really good facilities and logistics. All information was shared promptly and completely. Academic staff was composed by friendly and well prepared professors, with lectures focused also on hotel activities on the job. Beside of the traditional classes, having invited distinctive testimonials from the hotel industry provided me great insights. On top of this, site visits of the hotel partners added value to the overall Master's experience. The international participants have fostered discussion and comparison on how things work elsewhere. As next step, I am glad to continue the second term by working in the Finance department of The Ritz-Carlton hotel partner.

I left Italy leaving a great job to improve myself in the world of hospitality, as my big passion since I was very young.

After three weeks of Master I can feel proud of my choice and courage, because now I know the essence of the hotel management and with my internship I will try on a practical level.

I am sure this opportunity will give me the chance to reach my goals.

The Master was taught in modern facilities and the venue was in front of the fantastic Chain bridge. Lecturers are senior professionals, helpful and with a wide career experience in all hospitality fields. The Master's coordinator was a good facilitator and always punctual to help us. The whole Program provided me a vast insight about all the hotel departments and I am looking forward to starting my working experience at the gorgeous Boscolo Hotel.

The Master was well organized and helpful to improve management skills and knowledge about the Hospitality sector. I had the opportunity to meet very professional lecturers, who were experts of the hotel industry. We had also a lot of fun with nice and prepared students. The Master's venue and environment around was impressive, elegant and with high-level corporate style. I would like to thank the Master's coordinator and all teachers for this positive experience.

I studied and worked in the Hospitality field, but I applied for this Master because I wanted to develop my knowledge more in terms of managing and building my own company/hotel in the future. Overall, I had a good experience! Beside the traditional way of teaching, the lecturers were also able to transfer their experiences and knowledge of the hotel industry on a higher level. Regarding the internship period, I had two interviews and I have chosen the area that better suited my desires and passion.

I had no previous experience in the hospitality industry and this Master has helped to get a full overview of all the departments and learn a lot from the personal experiences of the lecturers. I believe that doing this Master is a good way of entering the industry and making contacts. The coordinator has been helpful at all times and tried his best to sort any problems out. I am looking forward to do my internship in the F&B Department in a 4* Hotel.

Although I already have a relevant experience in the Hospitality industry (Cruises), I decided to attend the Master to get a deeper understanding of the specific strategies and operations of the international hotel chains. What I found particularly effective was hearing directly from the experts of the field what the best practices and the every-day challenges are, which I believe is what a Master like this should focus on. As for the location of the Master, Budapest proves to be a leading player in the European scenario: tourism predicts to be huge here. To those seeking for a career in the important hotel chains and growing professionally, this Master offers great opportunities. Furthermore, the House of Business (where the classes took place) is in a magnificent position, right in front of the Chain bridge, and with outstanding facilities.

I am extremely glad to have been admitted to this structured Master in the wonderful Budapest, visibly growing extremely fast in terms of tourism. It was a very intensive period, in which I could learn a lot from all the valuable visiting professors, not only theories about how to run luxury hotels, but they were mainly focusing on transferring specific operational techniques which are actually needed in the daily working life. The Master's venue was impressive, surrounded by a corporate environment and straight in front of the famous Chain Bridge. The whole Master's organization and complementary programs (e.g. testimonials, hotel visits) were perfect and customized according to the desires of the Master's participants. I am fully committed in my internship as Front Office assistant at Zenit hotel partner.

The Master was well organized in a nice location, very helpful to improve management skills and knowledge about the Hospitality sector. The lectures are interesting and professors very professional. The Master's coordinator was a good facilitator and always punctual to help us. If you are interested in the Hospitality Industry, then this Master meets your needs and expectations, and I would recommend it to anyone who is looking for a professional course in the hospitality field. I am very proud to have started my internship at The Ritz-Carton!

House of Business Budapest is a top venue for any kind of business meeting, professional course or general office. Modern, new and located in the heart of Budapest, it is just in front of the main bridge of the Hungarian capital. Top choice!

The lecturers are professionals teaching you the secrets of Hotel Management. Friendly atmosphere, networking environment and the opportunity to ask questions directly to successful people. Anyone was opened to share their own experiences, ready to answer any kind of question and to help understanding what the main tasks of any positions are. Great attitude!

From morning until late evenings, I was completely absorbed by the Master in International Hotel Management. Everyday looking forward to share my experiences and trying to build networking with open-minded professors. I openly suggest this course to everyone who starts looking for a career in the Hospitality Industry. The course gave me more than what I was expecting from it. It is worth for the price, the location, the level of the lectures and the benefits you could take from it. Well done!

I have started my internship already as assistant manager and I cannot wait to prove myself.

This Master was for me absolutely a positive experience. The high profile of the teachers, who were mostly professionals of the sector, was already enough to make the price of the course worth it. We were able to exchange thoughts and ideas and ask questions that only an insider of the industry can answer. The level of the participants was also high. As one of our professors said, already doing some networking with professors, testimonials or hotel managers from other countries could turn into a job opportunity in the future. I really believe that I am now able to face a job interview with more knowledge. The location is amazing, in the heart of this beautiful city. Overall, according to my experience, I would recommend this Master and I am glad to have started my internship in the Front Office department of Exe hotel. Thank you for this opportunity and I hope we will all be able to keep in contact in the future.

I really recommend the Master in International Hotel Management in Budapest. It was a life changing experience. I had the opportunity to explore a new field which is the hotel management and to listen to the experiences of relevant people who work in this field and learn through them things that can't be thought only in a classroom. Moreover, the taught topics were useful to understand this world and to start working in this sector; furthermore I liked the interaction during the lessons. I loved being surrounded by an international environment and to have the possibility of knowing people coming from different backgrounds and to share with them thoughts, lives and work experiences. I was offered a back office position at Eurostars hotel and I am looking forward to starting it. It was an intense month, but it's worth every single effort.

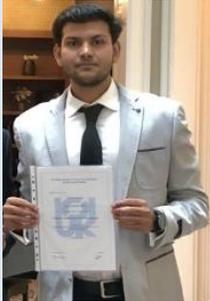

After a Bachelor Degree and few work experiences in the tourism sector, I decided to apply for this Master in order to grow my skills concerning management. The venue of the lectures was a meeting room of a hotel in the heart of Budapest; this was a nice choice, not only for the central location, but also because we could feel the vibes inside the hotel on a daily basis. On the last day we had the amazing opportunity to visit some of the hotel partners. In every hotel, a member of the staff showed and revealed us unusual perspective both of the building and of the hospitality industry. Now that the three weeks of lectures have finished, I can't wait to start my internship as F&B Management trainee at The Ritz-Carlton Budapest.

Before arriving in Budapest, the communication between myself and the Master's coordinator has been very good and fast, including the selection process. Regarding the lectures, alongside the theoretical principles, I have greatly appreciated the fact that the professors brought substantial work experiences to the classroom which were examples of life. I immediately got in touch through LinkedIn with some of them and we already had the chance to exchange opinions. We also had the opportunity to visit four different hotels partners in Budapest (The Ritz Carlton, Hotel Moments, D8 and Eurostars). The experience was engaging and interesting to have the real idea of how different designs and operations give the guest a different experience. The Master's venue was excellent, in the heart of Budapest and close to our accommodation. I found the proactivity of the Master's coordinator very useful in arranging our placements at the hotel partners. I have received two internship offers and in the end I chose to accept The Ritz-Carlton's one.

I am really satisfied to have participated in the Master in International Hotel Management. I had the chance to meet professional professors of different cultures and with a lot of experience in the hotel sector. Attending the Master with students from all over the world is an added value to the entire Programme. Thank you!

The Master in International Hotel Management at the Italian Chamber of Commerce and Industry for the UK was the biggest opportunity of my life. I learned a lot during the classes: the professors were very interactive and also shared many personal working experiences. After the lecture period, I have received two internship offers and I have chosen the Párisi Udvar Hotel Budapest, 5-star luxury hotel belonging to the Hyatt chain. The Master's coordinator is very helpful and I consider him as my mentor; he helped me at every step at his best level. I would definitely recommend everyone to join this Master and to become part of this professional network.

I chose the Master in International Hotel Management, organized in Budapest by the Italian Chamber of Commerce & Industry for the UK, because I wanted to improve my hotel business competence and skills and learn more about hotel departments.

I am satisfied and happy to have chosen this course, the lecturers and the presentations were very organized. The professors are very professional with a strong tourism hospitality background, overall the Master is well organized and structured.

At the end of theoretical lessons, I started an internship at Párisi Udvar Hotel in Budapest, a luxury hotel of Hyatt group, an excellent opportunity for me to create a new career in Europe.

I highly recommend this Master because I think it is perfect for anyone who would like to start a new career in the hospitality business globally. I wish good luck for all future students.
